

Since 1996, END TIME HARVEST MINISTRIES, INC. (ETHM) has positively impacted the lives of hundreds of youth and families throughout Prince George's County, Maryland.

ETHM promotes youth involvement in the Port Towns (Bladensburg, Comar Manor, Cottage City and Edmonston) and other county communities by equipping them with educational, social, and economic life skills to impact the health, wellness and wealth of communities. Strengthening families is a primary outcome of ETHM's social and human services.

Our primary goal is to develop and empower youth leaders by:

- ★ promoting youth-led health and wellness advocacy issues,
- ★ equipping youth with leadership and character skills, and
- ★ preparing youth for the workforce and college.

ETHM is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization. Contributions to ETHM are tax deductible to the extent of the law.

ETHM ★ Developing & Empowering Youth Leaders

The Port Towns Youth Council (PTYC) is End Time Harvest Ministries' youth advisory arm, whose mission is to promote and help build a safe, clean and healthy Port Towns community.

These students, ages 10-17, are nominated by their schools or local municipalities to be the youth advocacy voice in the Port Towns. They are required to have at least a 2.0 grade point average, good character and leadership potential. They must also live, attend school or worship in the Port Towns.

PTYC functions as the Port Towns' community-based student government to engage youth and families in Port Towns revitalization efforts. The goals of The Port Towns Youth Council are to: develop leadership skills, build character and help students, parents and the community develop healthy lifestyles.

MORE ETHM PROGRAMS

PATHWAYS TO CAREER SUCCESS

This career development program prepares Bladensburg High School students for the workforce and college through a variety of services that include: career planning information, literacy enhancement, job readiness training, jobs, internships and mentoring.

CHARACTER EDUCATION & PUBLIC SAFETY

ETHM's in-school and community-based Conflict Resolution Centers provide youth and their parents/guardians with conflict resolution and anger management life skills. All ETHM's public safety programs contribute to a decrease in student truancy, suspensions, dropout rates, gang violence and crime, and also help to increase graduation rates.

Our Young Ladies & Young Men of Distinction program provides girls and their parents with career protocol and social etiquette skills.

COMMUNITY SERVICE & ENVIRONMENTAL OUTREACH

PTYC members and their parents engage in a range of community service activities such as our partnership with the Port Town of Cottage City to help them establish the Cottage City Community Garden. Students and their families enjoy seeding, weeding, mulching and harvesting delicious produce. This HEAL project encourages other youth and town residents to be active while interacting with their neighbors and the town's officials.

Project 450 Community Clean Up, is an award winning environmental campaign established by the PTYC. This quarterly activity offers students, parents and community residents the opportunity to keep trash and debris from clogging Port Towns storm drains and flowing into the Anacostia River.

ETHM's Youth Wellness Leadership Institute addresses the health crisis among youth and families by offering youth-led nutritional and physically active programming that provides: health and wellness policy advocacy training, wellness ambassador training and community engagement development.

As stakeholders in the Port Towns Community Health Partnership, we embrace Living Well in the Port Towns in many ways:

- ★ Our Wellness Ambassadors, ages 10-17, are trained to teach their peers and others. They also advocate for policies that promote Healthy Eating, Active Living (HEAL) to impact the health of the Port Towns and beyond.
- ★ Our PTYC has embarked upon a health and wellness initiative — Diabetes and Obesity Awareness and Prevention Campaign.
- ★ ETHM has broadened our career development model to integrate health and wellness curricula throughout all programs.
